Crimson Bluffs Chapter Accomplishments
1998 – 2008

1998

- September 1997 Stephen Ambrose, award winning author of “Undaunted Courage,” spoke to a full house at the Silo Inn. The program was sponsored by the Townsend Military Affairs Committee, and the Broadwater Centennial Committee. Ambrose spoke about the upcoming Bicentennial of the Lewis and Clark Expedition and local sites and activities. The Military Affairs Committee made a contribution to the local museum in Ambrose’s name to upgrade the Lewis and Clark Display at the museum. Local history teacher, Jim Holland and the Museum Exhibit Hall Committee members, Troy and Shirley Helmick began the project.

- With the excitement of the upcoming Bicentennial of the Expedition, local Corps of Discovery enthusiasts discussed how Broadwater County and the community could get organized and become involved in activities related to the expedition.

- The initial meeting was February 5, 1998 at Jaspers’ Restaurant in Townsend, Montana. In attendance were Nancy Klee, Rose Oleson, Jim Dolizelek, Kevin McDonnell, Troy and Shirley Helmick, John Stoner, Hal and Olive Price, Barb Schaffer, Jeff Stoffer, and Beth Ihle.

- The local Corps of Discovery enthusiasts worked with Jim Holland and his 5th Grade Students at the Broadwater Grade School and with the Broadwater Museum staff members to develop and install a map and information about Lewis and Clark at the Broadwater County Museum.

- Troy Helmick pointed out that Lewis and Clark had no less than 17 campsites in or adjacent to Broadwater County during their travels through the area and that many landmarks are still in existence. At that time, information nationwide was non-existent about the travels of the Corps of Discovery in the Broadwater County area. Chapter members and the public worked throughout the years to put these landmarks on the map!

- Chapter Bylaws were adopted and July 24, 1998 was the official establishment of the Crimson Bluffs Chapter Charter.

William Clark led a small group along the bluffs on the west side of the river ahead of the main party. This is when he passed by and named Yorks Islands for his slave. His group camped just south of those islands on July 23.
• Support for naming of the islands after York came from: historians Stephen E. Ambrose; Robert N. Bergantino; U.S. Representative Rick Hill; state Rep. Crimson Bluffs Chapter worked with the Conservation Trust of Arlington, Virginia, and the Bureau of Land Management to purchase the Crimson Bluffs property.

- Efforts continued from Townsend to Washington, D.C. to keep the crimson-colored earth that borders the Missouri River undisturbed for the next couple of hundred years. The Senate Interior Appropriations Subcommittee was requested to allow $180,000 to be used toward the purchase of the 50 acres that encompass the bluffs. The Bureau of Land Management would own the two 25-acre plots, which have been subdivided and listed as residential property. The property would be preserved in its natural state, with only a historical marker nearby. Rick Hotaling, Steve Hartman and Marilyn Krause, BLM, were instrumental in making this happen.
- On February 26, 2001, Fish, Wildlife and Parks approved the name change of Deep Dale Fishing Access Site to Yorks Islands Fishing Access Site.
- Yorks Islands Commemoration was held on July 28. Speakers and special guests included Huel and Laverne Willis, Bob and Sharon Bergantino, and Mark and Ellen Baumler.
- Program speakers were Brig. General Hal Stearns, Dr. Harry Fritz and Dr. John Logan Allen.
- Stationary and envelopes with the colored picture of the Crimson Bluffs printed.
- Display at Great Northern Town Center.

- In February the Conservation Fund of Virginia agreed to assist with the purchase of the Crimson Bluffs property as well as the surrounding 50 acres in an effort to protect the landmark from rapidly encroaching developments. Immediately following the acquisition the property was transferred to the Bureau of Land Management. A legacy to be forever cherished! Support was received from the National Lewis and Clark Trail Heritage Foundation, The Conservation Fund, The River Network and Montana’s Congressional Delegation of Senator Conrad Burns, Senator Max Baucus and Representative Denny Rehberg. We are also grateful to Steve Ambrose for his efforts to educate the public about the importance of Lewis and Clark and the Crimson Bluffs at Townsend. A 15-star, 15-stripe U.S. flag of 1805 was purchased by the chapter and was presented during the ceremony. Honorary speaker at the commemoration was Hugh Ambrose who represented his father Stephen Ambrose. Representatives for Senators Max Baucus, Conrad Burns, and Representative Dennis Rehberg read statements sent in support of the project. Also speaking at the dedication was Clint Blackwood, executive director for the Montana Lewis and Clark Bicentennial Commission, and KiKu Hanes, a representative of the Conservation Fund, a nonprofit group that facilitated purchase of the property.

- July 27, 2002 marked the dedication of the 50 acre site at the Crimson Bluffs along the Missouri River. Nearly 200 years before, Captains Meriwether Lewis and William Clark passed this way and Capt. Lewis and all those that kept journals recorded the “remarkable bluff of a crimson-colored earth ....”

- In August 2002 John Ragen provided a cottonwood tree to the Chapter for the building of a dugout canoe. Gene Cook cut the tree down and Maurice Ferrat loaned an “Adz” to be used by Troy, John, and others to build the canoe which was a replica of the canoes the Lewis and Clark Expedition used. It is just shy of 16 feet in length and is caulked with native bee’s wax which was sometimes used by the Corps of Discovery. It was completed on March 15, 2003 and moved to the Broadwater Museum where it is on permanent display.

- Speakers included Dr. Joseph Mussulman, “In Greatest Harmony: Medicine Songs on the Lewis and Clark Trail”; Carla Wambach on her presentation of “Birds Sighted by Lewis and Clark,” and Robert Sandon’s “Montana through the Eyes of Lewis and Clark.”

- President Thomas Jefferson, portrayed by Bob Doerk, visited Townsend. The program was funded through Nancy Marks by the Fun for Life Program.

- In April Mick Bradway, geologist with the U.S. Forest Service gave a presentation on the geology of the Crimson Bluffs site. Mick used diagrams, photographs, and rock specimens to enhance his explanations and helped clarify points. His report is on file with the Chapter’s documents and has been archived at the Broadwater County Museum.

- In August of 2003, Hal Price was awarded one of only four Distinguished Service Awards given nationally by the Lewis and Clark Trail Heritage Foundation. Due to his failing health, his son Marshall accepted the award for him in Philadelphia. Hal was one of the leading locals who helped form the Crimson Bluffs Chapter of the Lewis and Clark Trail Heritage Foundation in Townsend.

- A 42 mile, self-guided driving tour developed by Troy and John was printed and made available to the public, and 17 stations were identified along the route. Mike Castleberry was instrumental in developing the graphic design art work for the brochure.

- In June of 2003, history buffs and members of the Crimson Bluffs Chapter began to post directional signs over more than a 42 mile area through the Townsend and Crow Creek Valley making it easier for visitors to follow the route identified in the auto tour brochure.

- John Stoner gave a presentation on Lewis and Clark at the Summer Reading Program at the Broadwater County Community Library. As part of the presentation, he brought along a small friend that received mixed reactions from the crowd – a small black snake that is a member of a species believed to have been discovered by Lewis and Clark.

- A PowerPoint presentation “The Bicentennial of the Lewis and Clark Trail in Broadwater County, Crimson Bluffs Chapter” was prepared by Alicia Cox of the Forest Service and members showed the presentation to local clubs, organizations, and the state-wide chapters.

- Dr. David Peck, physician and author of “Or Perish in the Attempt,” was a speaker in early February and talked about the medicine of Lewis and Clark.

- At the request of the Museum of the Rockies a Crimson Bluffs photograph, Yorks Islands photograph, Crimson Bluffs rock sample, Little Gates of the Mountains photograph, and brochures were provided for the Museum’s “West of Wonder: the Natural Philosophy and Technology of the Lewis and Clark Expedition” exhibit.

They placed their two dugout canoes in the Missouri River at Yorks Islands Fishing Access Site and demonstrated how they would have been hauled up the river 200 years earlier. Because of low water, Dusty Hohn assisted the Corps to launch and retrieve their canoes. He certainly saved the day.
