

Lewis and Clark Trail Stewardship Endowment (LCTSE) Grant Application Process and Guidelines

During the Bicentennial, the U.S. Mint issued and sold Lewis and Clark Expedition Bicentennial Commemorative Silver Dollars. Proceeds from the sale of the coins were provided to the Lewis and Clark Trail Heritage Foundation to create the Lewis and Clark Trail Stewardship Endowment for the purpose of preservation, protection, and interpretation of the natural, historic, educational, and cultural resources of the Lewis and Clark national Historic Trail.

The Trail Foundation's Lewis and Clark Trail Stewardship Advisory Committee solicits application by October 1 every year for projects that will have the demonstrable, positive impact along the pathways followed by the Expedition; this includes the National Lewis and Clark Historic Trail and other important sites off the designated trail.

- Maximum Grant Amount: $7,500
- Minimum Grant Amount: $1,000

Who Can Apply?

Priority consideration is given to application from Chapters of the LCTHF. However, other non-profit organizations whose mission's work is to preserve and protect important and specific resources on the LCNHT or who manage sites that are specifically provided for public access to sites that interpret the Lewis and Clark story are eligible to apply for funding. Projects must clearly meet the goals of the LCTSE Program.

What Kind of Projects?

The goal of the LCTSE Program is to fund projects that

- a) Enhance public access, enjoyment, or knowledge of significant or identifiable Lewis and Clark sites;
- b) Protect, preserve, or restore a threatened and important Lewis and Clark site or associated natural or cultural resources;
- c) Involve partners such as a private property owner; youth groups such as schools, Boy Scouts/Girls Scouts of America; government agencies; other non-profit organizations or land trusts; and especially Indian Tribes.
- d) Are sustainable or maintainable by the requesting Chapter or organization

Priority is given to proposals that increase the scope of the project by the involvement of partners such as those mentioned above in section C. that guarantee matching funds of at least 25% of the amount requested; LCTHF Chapters and projects with Indian Tribal involvement.
